

Inside Fashion

Eugenia Sheppard Around the Town

Twenty-five-year-old Roberto Polo, son of Countess Celis de Maceda and art director of the Rizzoli Gallery, and his attractive size-four wife, Rosa, were hosts last weekend at a dinner dance in El Morocco's Champagne Room for around 140 persons.

The formal dinner was the kickoff for an ambitious project that will turn the book store into a gallery for a combination of art and fashion to benefit Fountain House, which treats the mentally disturbed.

Set for the evening of Dec. 2, this event has Mrs. Douglas Auchincloss as chairman, Diana Vreeland as consultant and 53 painters, sculptors, fashion designers and photographers creating entries.

Roberto Polo

Polo, who was born in Cuba, came here at the age of nine. He is a man of many contacts and talents.

He is both a painter and a designer, who created the black jersey dress Mrs. Polo wore at their party.

The guests included Marisa Berenson, Fernando Sanchez, Lady Ann Lambton, Verushka, Joan Fontaine, Betsy de Cuevas and Drew Dudley.

This week, Polo leaves for Europe, where he will pick up entries in Paris and Rome for the December show.

* * *

There was no plate throwing but, otherwise, it was a real Greek party at Dionysos the other night to celebrate the publication of Nicholas Gage's "Bourlotas," a novel about the Greek shipping magnates.

Some of those who were happily dancing Greek dances until all hours were Robert Morgenthau, Clay Felker, Peter Maas, Joyce and David Susskind, Tom and Shella Pulling, Mike Wallace, Shana Alexander, William vanden Heuvel, John Mack Carter and Rona Jaffe.

* * *

It was farewell to Petula Clark at actress Cornelia Sharpe's party the other night.

Some of those who crowded into the Park Avenue penthouse were Monique van Vooren, wrapped in Giorgio's red rabbit hair tunic and scarf; Polly Bergen, in strapless jersey pajamas and quilted jacket; Lois Chiles, all Yves Saint Laurent in silk shirt, pants and jacket; Cy Coleman, Bo Polk, Carol Lynley, Tamara Dobson and Rita Moreno. Al Pacino arrived, but fled when he saw the cameras.